Aurora Staff

An innovation in this year's staff was a separate sales organization advised by Mr. Kemp, who was business manager for the Aurora during his student days at Union. Sales exceeded those of previous years by more than a hundred books.

For the first time undergrads held positions on the editorial staff. These "rookies" will hold major positions on next year's staff.

Editor-in-chief Howard Van Oosten and sales-manager Zabelle Goolian represented the Aurora at the N.S.P.A. convention in Indianapolis last fall. There they met and "talked shop" with yearbook representatives from all over the United States.

The autocratic and intolerant acts of certain European nations during the last few years have not only had their intended effect, to satisfy the greed and lust of the men in power in those countries, but these acts have also served to awaken the youth of America in general, and Union High School in particular, to the advantages of democracy, "the American way."

Through this, our twenty-eighth annual Aurora, we review a year of student life in a junior democracy, which offers knowledge and experience to its "citizens," thus opening the door to success in the major spheres of life which we have chosen to term the Workaday World, the Leisure-time

World, and the Wide, Wide World.

To Miss Clara B. Smallidge the Aurora staff of 1939 sincerely dedicates this annual. An ardent worker for the school and its students, Miss Smallidge personally exemplifies the loyalty, democracy, and tolerance which we Americans like to think we all possess

While most students in her classes have ancestors who entered America by way of Ellis Island, Miss Smallidge can boast of ancestors, natives of England, who landed on Plymouth Rock. One of her ancestors owned the first hardware store in Boston, and another, William Whipple, signed the Declaration of Independence, proof that she belongs to American aristocracy not only in spirit, but also in ancestry

Miss Smallidge has acted as president of the P.T.A., corresponding secretary of the Community Council, adviser of the sophomore and junior classes, Press Club adviser, and publicity agent for the school

It has been the privilege of Union students since 1923 to have Miss Smallidge, true American that she is, as a member of the high school faculty

In Memoriam

ROBERT H. NICHOL

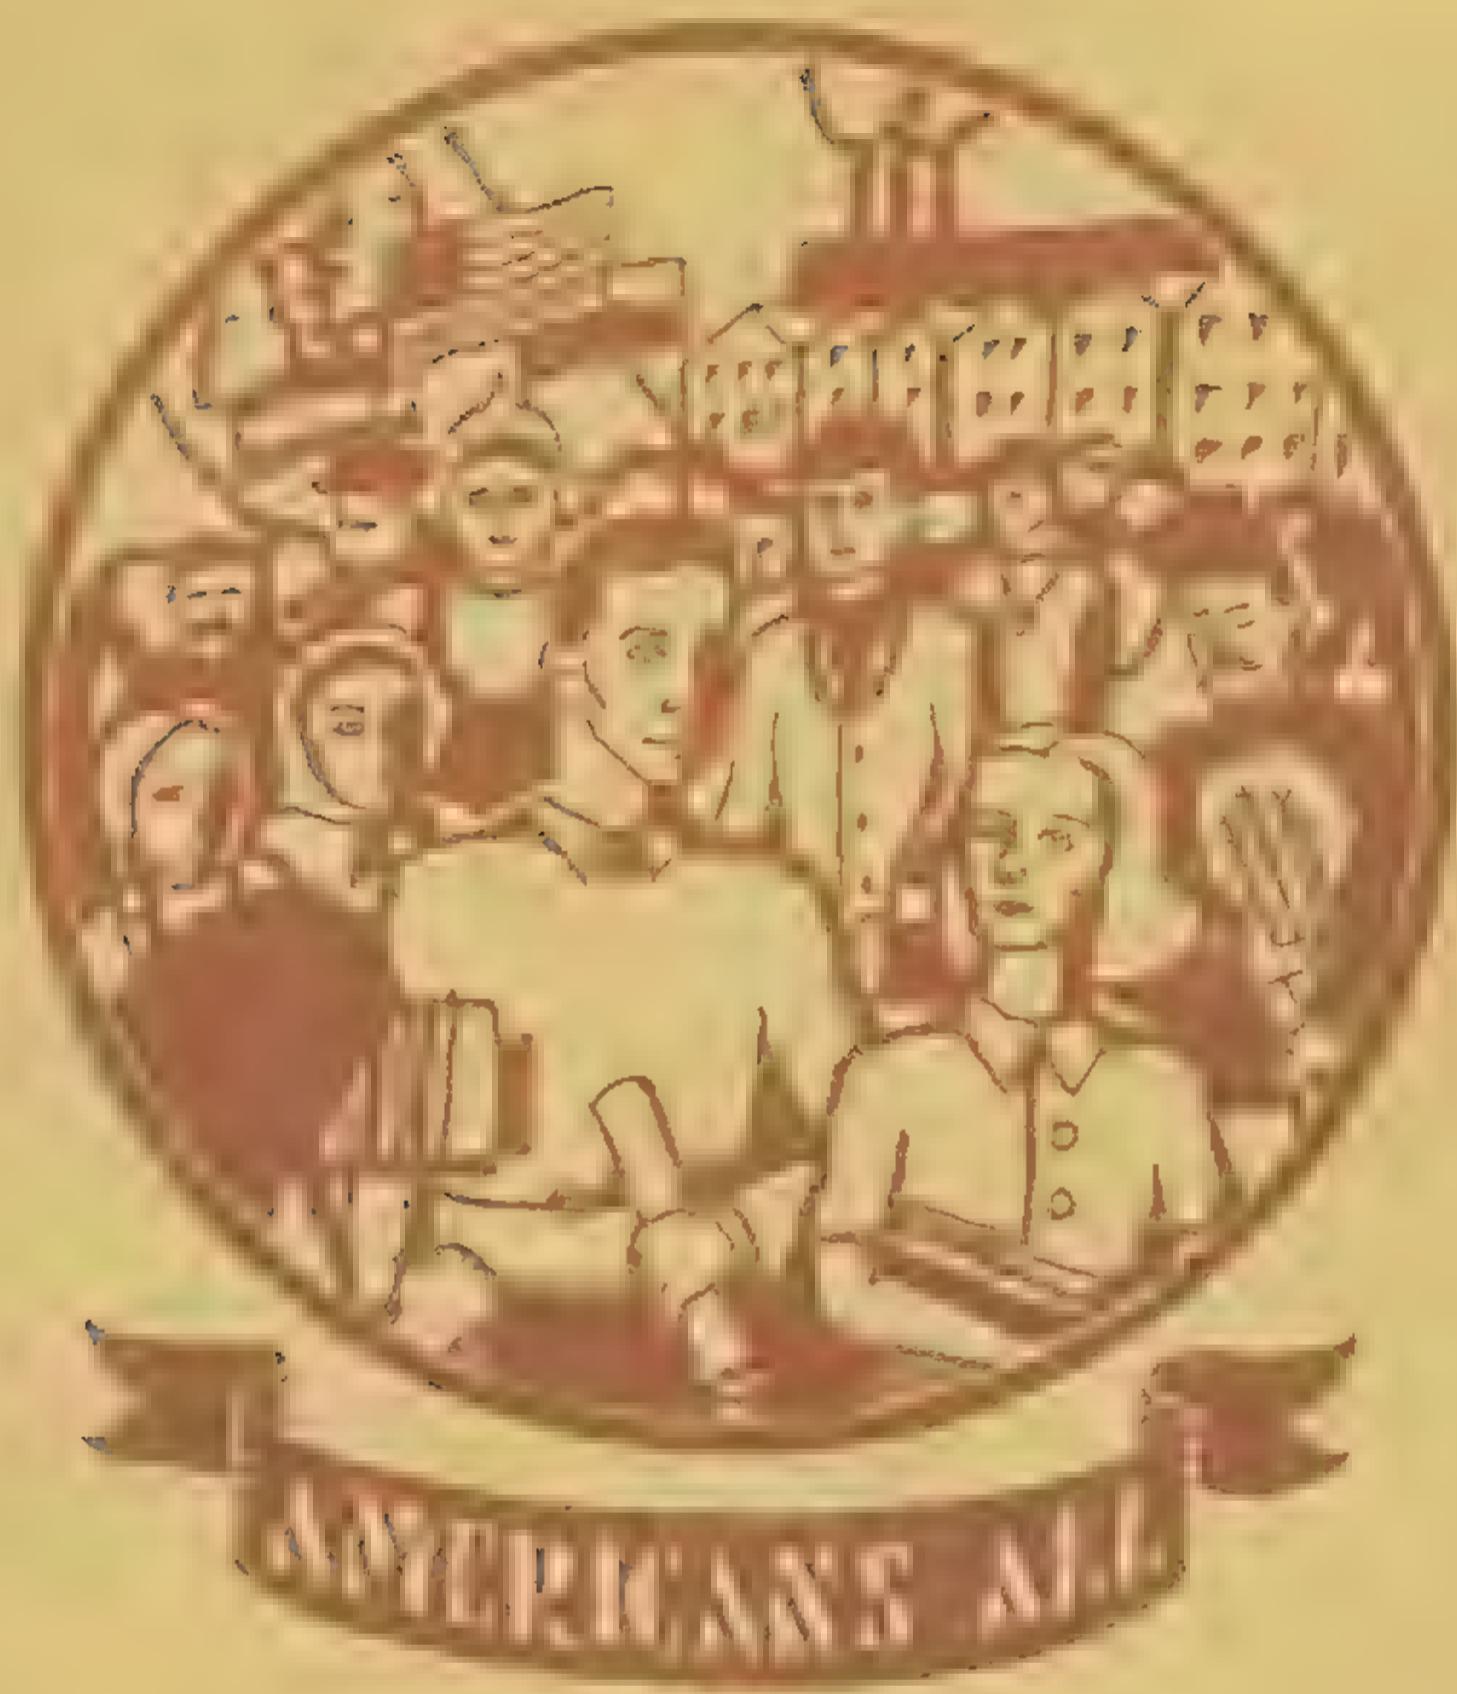

The senior class at the University of Michigan were Fortified Nichol's undergraduate and graduate studies in 1943. 1944 he was a deeply tested student in the school, his course work was of extreme; active student participating in the various student organizations.

He was a first year recruit in the ROTC in member of the Varsity Club, a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. He addressed his letter to his parents by the title of "Dear Father".

He was born in Grand Rapids on September 1, 1920. He had attended Kalamazoo High School, the University of Michigan.

A student, member of the ROTC, he was a fine representative of the University of Michigan.

Robert H. Nichol, a member of the senior class at the University of Michigan, was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. He was a member of the Varsity Club, a member of the ROTC, and a member of the University of Michigan.

the Union all may qualify the principles of the Constitution for the central government and, accordingly, it is ultimately left to the Constitutional Convention to determine whether the proposed principles will be adopted.

whose citizens are Americans all.

The Powers That Be

A new teacher has come to the school and seems to be a good addition. Mr. Everest, the principal, is a good teacher.

It is twenty-two hours a day for teachers. A very rather stern and helpful adviser, he turns his back away in a relieved state.

Under Mr. Everest's guidance the hour has become as orderly as the hour of the day; new courses are reformed to stimulate good citizens. One hundred per cent cooperation in all school undertakings. Current exemplary procedure in the schoolroom. Coeducational schoolroom. The coming realities.

Because Mr. Everest is so determined to discard the extreme, and is fair enough to accept the new order of work as has been proved, he is progressive and tolerant in the eyes of the parents, the teachers, and the community.

MR. CHARLES A. EVEREST

While her person is barely distinguishable, a flash of her brilliantly hued and flowing dress catches the eye and informs one that Miss Mann, assistant principal, is on one of her many daily rounds to check on the service squad, to try to obtain employment for some worthy student, or to remind disorderly students that study halls should be pursued in a quiet manner.

For hours she turns over the building until she leaves at noon. The principal, Mr. Everest, says she is the best teacher he has ever had. She is a true teacher.

A respect for honesty, intelligence, to promote education, and a desire to help people succeed is her motto.

MISS BLANCHE MANN

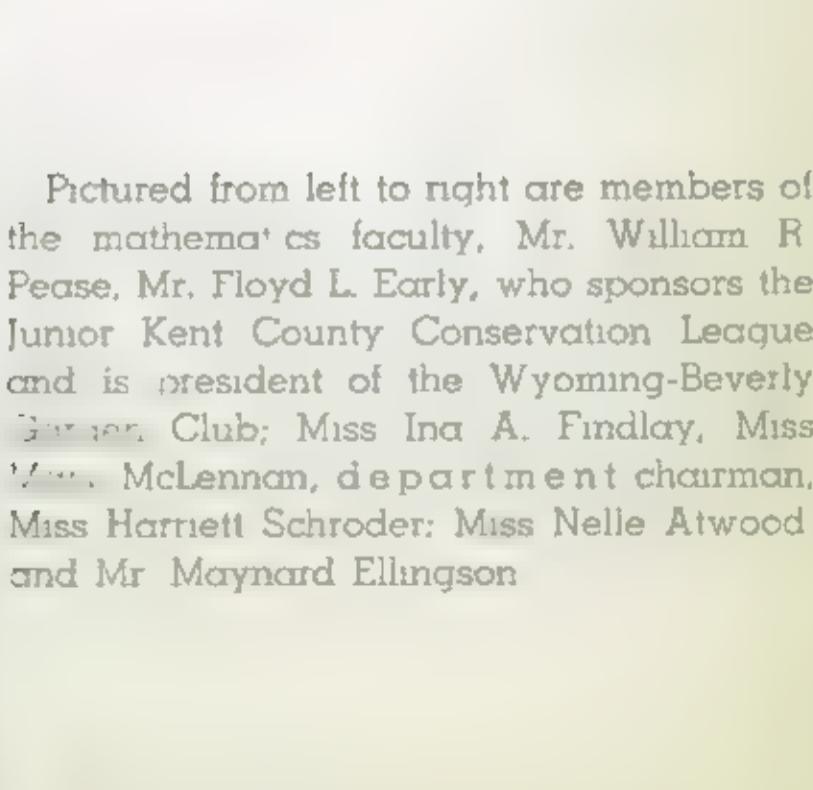

Faculty

Mr. Bazuin, who is president of the Kent Naturalist Society and chairman of the Finance, Membership and Hospital Loan Committee of the Grand Rapids Teachers Club, has just finished a manuscript for a new textbook on nature study and its relation to conservation

Here we see the tryout of a drama group in preparation in the business department. The commercial teachers are Mr. Forrest E. Barr, school treasurer; Miss Elizabeth B. Miller; Mr. Berton J. Kemp, graduate of Kent and a new faculty member; Mr. Forrest F. Lair; Mr. Arthur J. Avery, chairman of the department; Mrs. Ruby Raymer; Mrs. Gertrude Wachter; Miss Marie McDermon. Mr. Barr is a member of the civic interests committee of the Grand Rapids Teachers Club which sponsored two lectures the proceeds of which made up a gift of four hundred fifty dollars for the civic art gallery. Mrs. V. Edna Maxon

Looking over material for use in the department are members of the English faculty. From left to right they are Miss Mabel E. Allen; Miss Valerie Quimby; Miss Irene Axlee new at Union; Miss Carlene Bachar, chairman of the department whose hobby is gardening; Miss Lavina A. Ladd; Miss Dorothy Jane Farr; Miss Myrtle Hartline, recording secretary of the Michigan Schoolistic Press Association and associate editor of a booklet on health distributed in all the city schools; Mr. Leonard Meyers, and Miss Grace Thomasina member of the public relations committee of the Teachers Club.

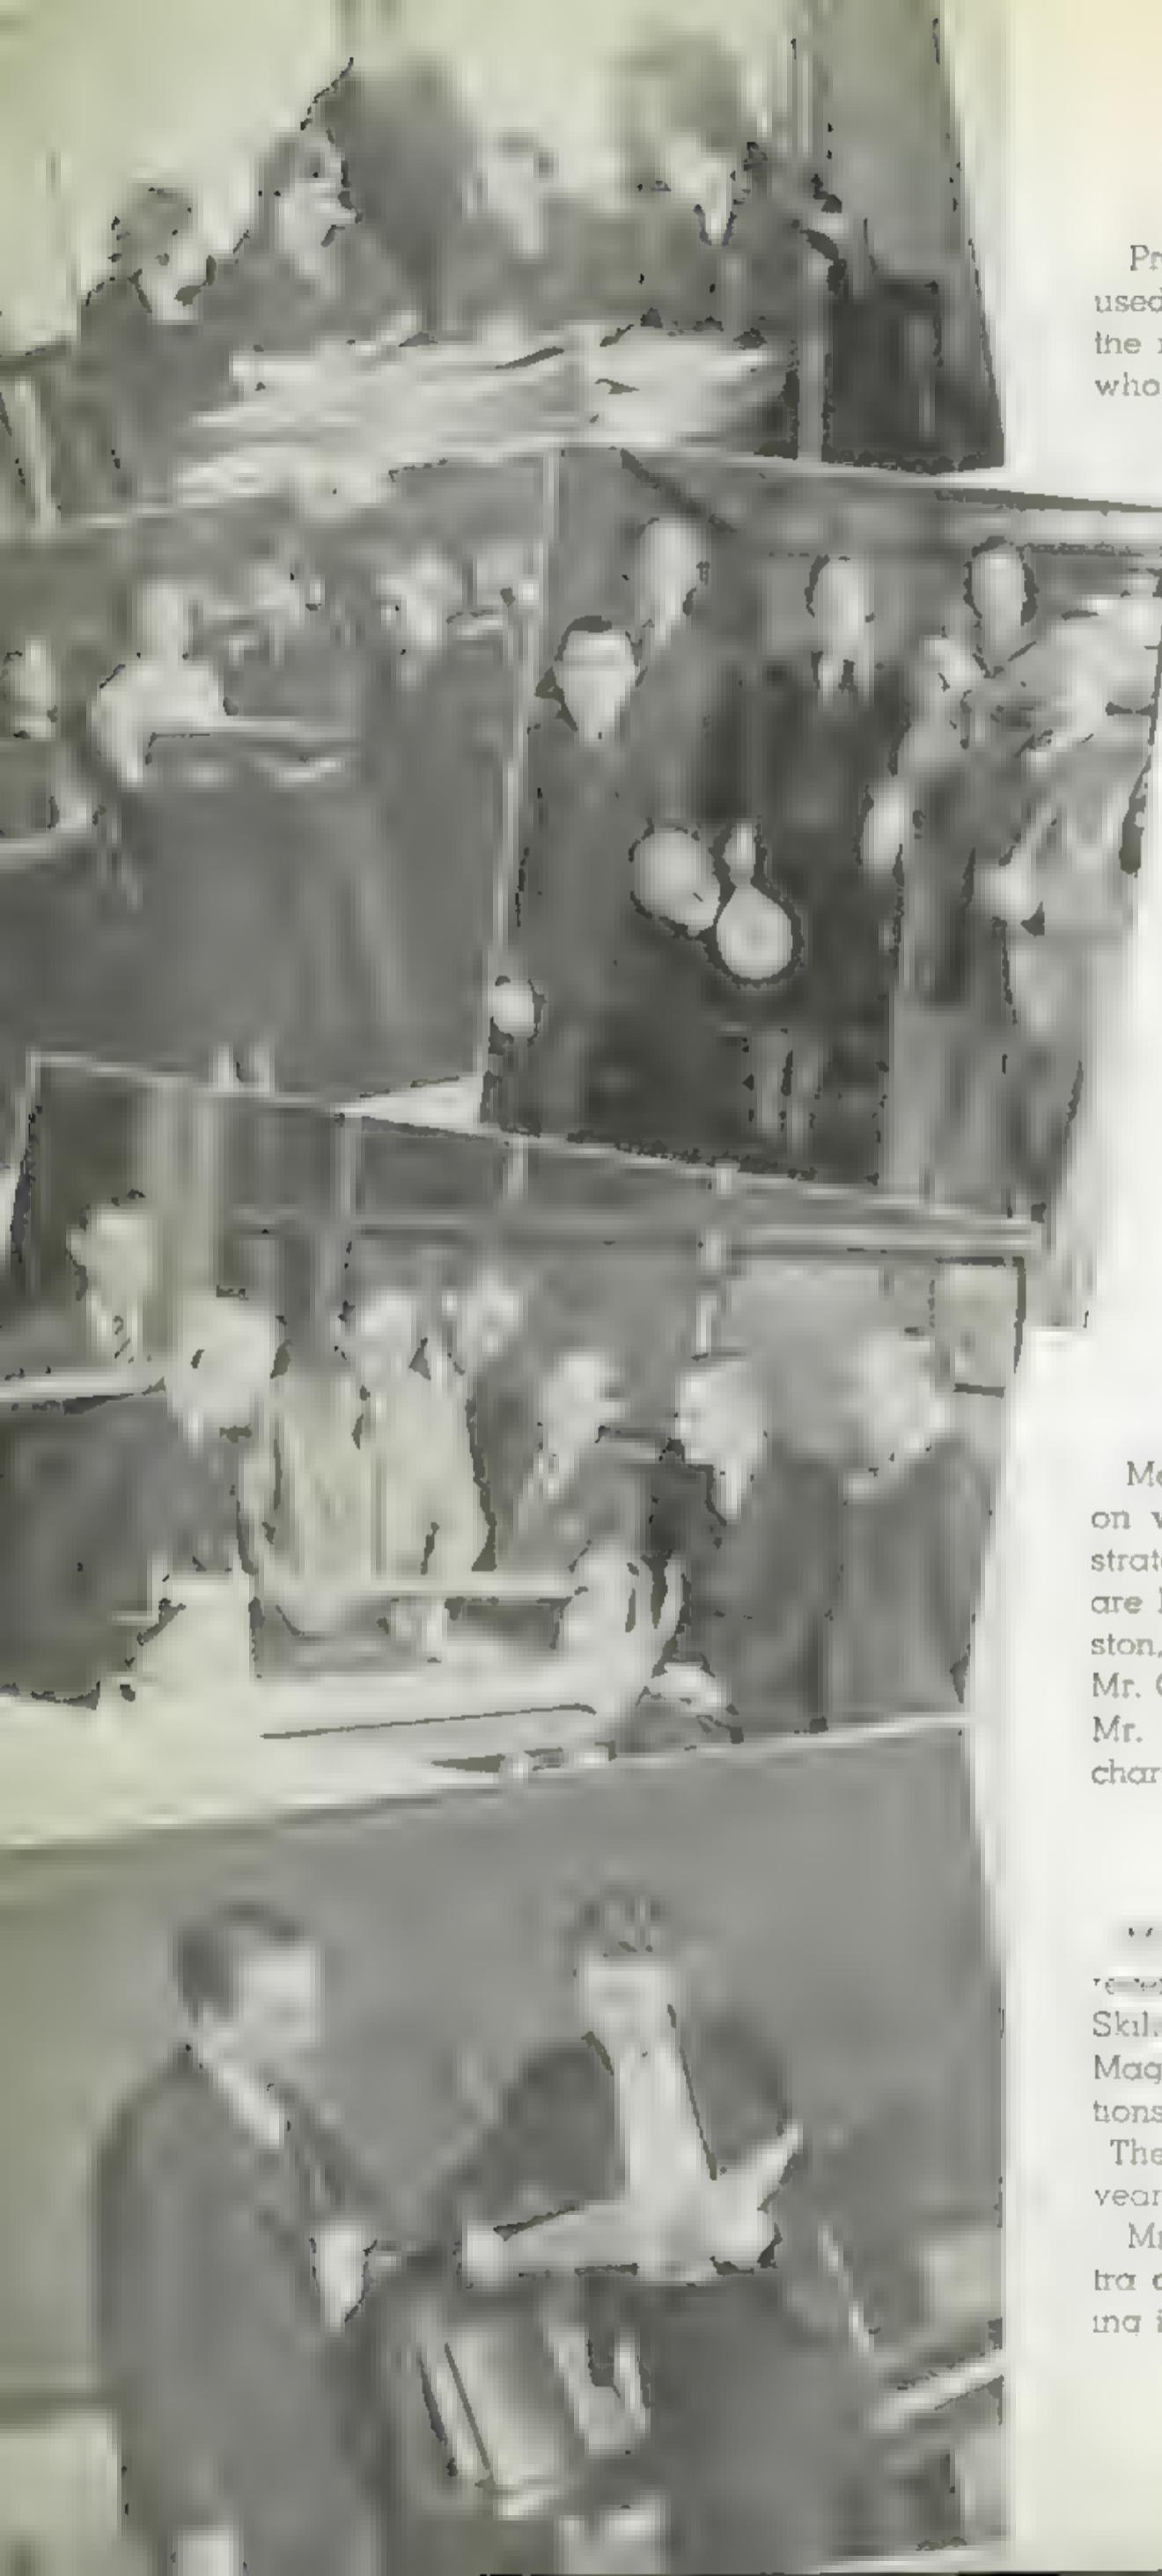

Introducing members of the department of members of the speech department are Mr. Leonard Meyers and Miss Carlene Bachar, teachers of public speaking; Miss Lillian Thorne, Miss Dorothy Jane Farr, Union this year; Miss Esther Scholes, Miss Ruth Carpenter whose main voices are English and French; Miss Dorothy S. Blake, Director of Nature Education; Associate member of the preparation and certification of teachers; and Miss Esther E. Ladd. Miss Scholes, Miss Carpenter and Miss Blake teach French, Spanish, and Latin respectively.

Posed and ready for the shot are Union's "physical fitters." Members of the physical education and the athletic faculty include Mr. Elmer Liske, Mr. W. Maynard Ellingson, Miss Margaret E. MacDonald, Miss Esther Vander Broek, and Mr. John Hess

Miss Florence Best, popular voice teacher, recently had an article entitled "Mastering Skills" published in the Educational Music Magazine. She also has had two compositions, "Trail Song" for men's voices and "The Cloud," published during the past year

Mr. Theodore Fryfogel, band and orchestra conductor, frequently leads group singing in assemblies

Class of 1939

In one of the most heated election campaigns of their high school days, the class of '39 chose for its president "dark horse" Edward Sosnowski. Pinch-hitting for Eddie when he was ill, was Allen Waivo, vice-president. At the eve Bill Sneathen served as secretary, while Muriel Farnier and Lyle Martz handled the class's financial problems through their positions as girl and boy treasurer. Not were the purse strings of the seniors Lyle's only financial problem, for in "Martzian" fashion did he handle the finances of the Aurora, and maintain scholastically his position of highest ranking senior boy.

Versatile Bobs Johnston was a member of the Assembly Planning Committee for Special Events and proved his efficiency by tending to numerous details attendant upon every assembly.

Geraldine Fik and John Shackleton, co-chairmen of the photograph committee, with Sonia Weiner and William Borgeld, chairmen of the play committee, have served the class untiringly

Earl Millet has successfully combined a year of legislation with one of culture by serving as president of both the Student Council and the Latin Club. With music by Frances Szekely and lyrics by George DeYoung, the class song this year is one of the finest produced at Union. Mildred Orwant and Evelyn West were managing editors of the Reflector for the first and second semesters respectively. Evelyn was one of the four local contestants for a scholarship at the University of Michigan.

Prominent seniors whose pictures are appearing elsewhere in this Aurora are Sylvia Castor, with the highest number of activity points among the seniors, Lorraine Goosmann and Howard Van Oosten, winners of the Dillingham Cup Awards and leaders in extra curricular activities, and Mary Anne Mentzer, Union's candidate for the D A R. trip to Washington.

Class of 1940

The first activity is to read the text and answer the questions. The text is about a nature reserve in the UK. It is about the seven species of owl that live in the area. The text is written in a simple, easy-to-read font. It is suitable for primary school children. The questions are designed to test the children's comprehension of the text. They are asked to answer questions about the text, such as 'What is the name of the nature reserve?', 'What are the seven species of owl?', and 'What is the area like?'. The text is also suitable for use in a classroom setting, as it can be read aloud by the teacher or read independently by the children. The questions can be used as a form of assessment to check the children's understanding of the text.

raise money for the junior-senior prom. A ~~fund~~ was raised in a notebook sale. After the sales of sweets were also held for the prom. The prom, held May 26 in a garden setting, was, as usual, the outstanding social event of the year.

A report of cooperation between classes is given when the juniors and the seniors worked together at the Round-up by alternate-sponsoring roller skating. It is as follows:

This year for the first time the Aurora added a new staff. Members of the editorial staff this year are Carol Anne Flynn, Janice Rouse, Cindy Haan, and Florence Russell.
The new staff are Avi Kasher,
Anne Flynn, Carol Anne Rouse, Janice Rouse,
Cindy Haan, Carol Anne Flynn, Seymour
Lyon, Carol Anne Flynn, and Florence Russell.

Among senior leaders in scholarship who are active in class and school affairs are Emily Flyer, Linda Reisman, Sophie Chmurny, Leah Leven, Theodora Staskiewicz, and Janet Smith.

Class of 1942

A survey of a large number of ninth graders this year produced the astonishing fact that English is their favorite study. Commercial arithmetic and algebra are also popular with freshmen. Most of the girls of the class plan to be secretaries while the choice of the boys regarding a vocation lies between engineering and aviation.

Four members of the freshman class, Louise DeWitt, Charles Matthews, Aaron Golden, and Patty Welch served on the Aurora sales staff and conducted a successful campaign in their home rooms.

Officers of the class are Frank Jackin, president; Patty Welch, vice-president; Patty Grebel, secretary, and Carolyn Mohr and Arthur Carlson, treasurers.

Freshmen especially outstanding in scholarship are Greta Silvers and Florence Kwiatkowski. Ted Budzan and Patty Welch were chosen Round-up rangers. Aaron Golden was in charge of the freshman Round-up project, the selling of theater tickets. Star salesmen in many sales campaigns were David Quigley and Charles Matthews. Patty Grebel, besides being secretary of the class, is secretary of the Student Council, and a leader in all activities.

Classes of 1943 and 1944

Seventh graders, with true democratic spirit, have formed a council which is composed of members who are elected or appointed from each home room. There are no class officers, but the council meets the first Wednesday in the month to plan the group activities. It was through the efforts of this group that the seventh graders were able to sponsor a booth at the Round-up and to enjoy an annual party with entertainment by talented members of the class.

Seventh and eighth grade salesmen were added to the Aurora staff for the first time this year and were among the most enthusiastic workers

Arts and crafts are popular with the students of the seventh and eighth grades. Both boys and girls like music, vocal and instrumental. The boys are also interested in machinery and shop work, especially printing. The girls take great pride in the garments they turn out in sewing classes

Democracy Fosters Health

Totalitarian nations talk much about health. They march and drill until they are exhausted or suffer permanently from over-exercise. Democracies believe in educating, and it matters health and giving an amount of exercise that tends to build up rather than an amount of exercise that tends to break down.

Courses in physiology and physical education are offered to students who eagerly enroll in them. In these classes students learn the mechanisms of the human body and how to keep them in working condition. Foods classes approach the problem of building health by instructing the students in correct diets, and sometimes at Union even lunches get grades!

The sight conservation class is open to students who need to have existing defects corrected and to those who need especially to conserve their eye-sight. Speech classes have also attracted students who want to learn to correct faulty speech habits because they know that in a democracy a person may speak his mind. The future citizens of America are being trained to preserve their health so that they may be physically ready to take their places in a workaday world.

Excepting a very few other classes, shops afford almost the only opportunity for actual training in a given field. It is possible for a student to take as much as three and one-half years of mechanical drawing, not including architectural or showcard drawing, types of designing in which Union High School offers courses. There are advanced classes in printing, also, and other shops including woodworking, metalcraft, and auto mechanics, offer very complete courses too. Classes in electricity train students in practical work which will be useful to them in every-day life. Home wiring and radio work are prominent in this course.

In addition to training the student for a vocation these shops perform many useful jobs for the school. Nearly all poster work, for advertising purposes or otherwise, is done in mechanical drawing. Woodworking classes put up the booths for the annual Round-up and do other odd jobs of carpentering about school; the advanced printing classes print the Union Reflector; besides operating the public address system in the auditorium, the electricity classes take care of all electric signs used for advertising of school activities; and the machine and metal shops perform other services throughout each school year.

Never Done

To a girl one of the many advantages in going to school in the United States is the opportunity to elect the practical courses offered in clothing, foods, home arts, and personal regimen.

Not only is a girl taught to make her clothes but also how to select the style and style best suited to her personality and physique. Personal regimen classes stress such helpful details as grooming and posture.

A study of interest according to the girls is other things, to cultivate an admiration for the native crafts of immigrant ancestors of school members.

In foods classes the girls learn how to prepare meals, how to buy wisely and economically, and how to perform the various duties of a good hostess.

Home economics classes are especially fortunate in having so many girls of foreign ancestry, for these are persons who have made contributions in the form of recipes from every country in Europe. Sometimes an Italian, German or Polish mother will come into school and instruct the foods students in the art of one of her native dishes.

Thus do American girls at Ursuline learn the feminine arts in addition to their educational and cultural interests.

Speed, Accuracy, Efficiency

To train the students for hindrance; and holding an open mind is the main purpose of the commercial courses. Attention to detail, application, intelligent use of time, initiative, correct attitude, and retentive memory are a few of the qualities which business courses attempt to develop in the business men and women of tomorrow. "Speed," "accuracy," "efficiency," the three passwords to success, are dinned into the ears of all commercial students.

Whether two of Mrs. Raymer's retail selling classes earned nine hundred and fifty dollars working in the downtown stores during Christmas vacation, and numerous other commercial students find their commercial training makes them at least partly self-supporting even before they leave high school.

Office machines — dictaphones, ediphones, and calculators — are used in typing and shorthand classes to give practical experience to students who expect to enter the business world soon after graduation.

For Humanity's Sake

Mathematics and science, coupled with the genius of man, have produced most of the comforts of this modern world. The great machines and experimental laboratories which have brought about the rapid progress of the past seventy-five years would not have existed had it not been for these sciences

While most of the facilities of science in European countries are being utilized in the development of war implements, Americans are busy developing cures for diseases, substitutes for raw materials, and aids for the benefit of mankind in general. European statesmen, obsessed with race prejudices, have sent us Einstein and other leaders, whose gifts we accept gratefully

The study of science in school, besides helping in the development of the mind, also tends to do away with superstition and teaches us to be alert, thoughtful, accurate, and independent

Students in America should feel very thankful that they can study and work to help humanity instead of having to join an army to destroy human life as the students of certain European countries are forced to do

Mother Tongue Technicians

A high school student's first aim, which is to be a successful American citizen, can be realized more easily if he has a thorough knowledge of his language.

In English classes through the medium of textbooks, letters, newspapers, panel discussions, pictures, maps, and notebooks, students have the opportunity to become familiar with the world about them and to learn to express themselves clearly in terms of situations which they are likely to meet in adult life.

A study of English also makes possible a greater appreciation of the finer things; life has more to offer because of the new pathways that literature has opened to the individual's mind.

It is through the apt expression of our citizens trained in school to use their mother tongue with facility, that democratic ideas and ideals of the American way are transmitted throughout the world.

DISCUSSION — THE AMERICAN WAY

Bernamburg, Seltzer, Skorupski, Czubai, Stankiewicz

From Tip to Type

The voice of the people — the American people. Nowhere is the title allowed more freedom than in the United States, and the right so to, within the limits of good taste, is a privilege that every citizen

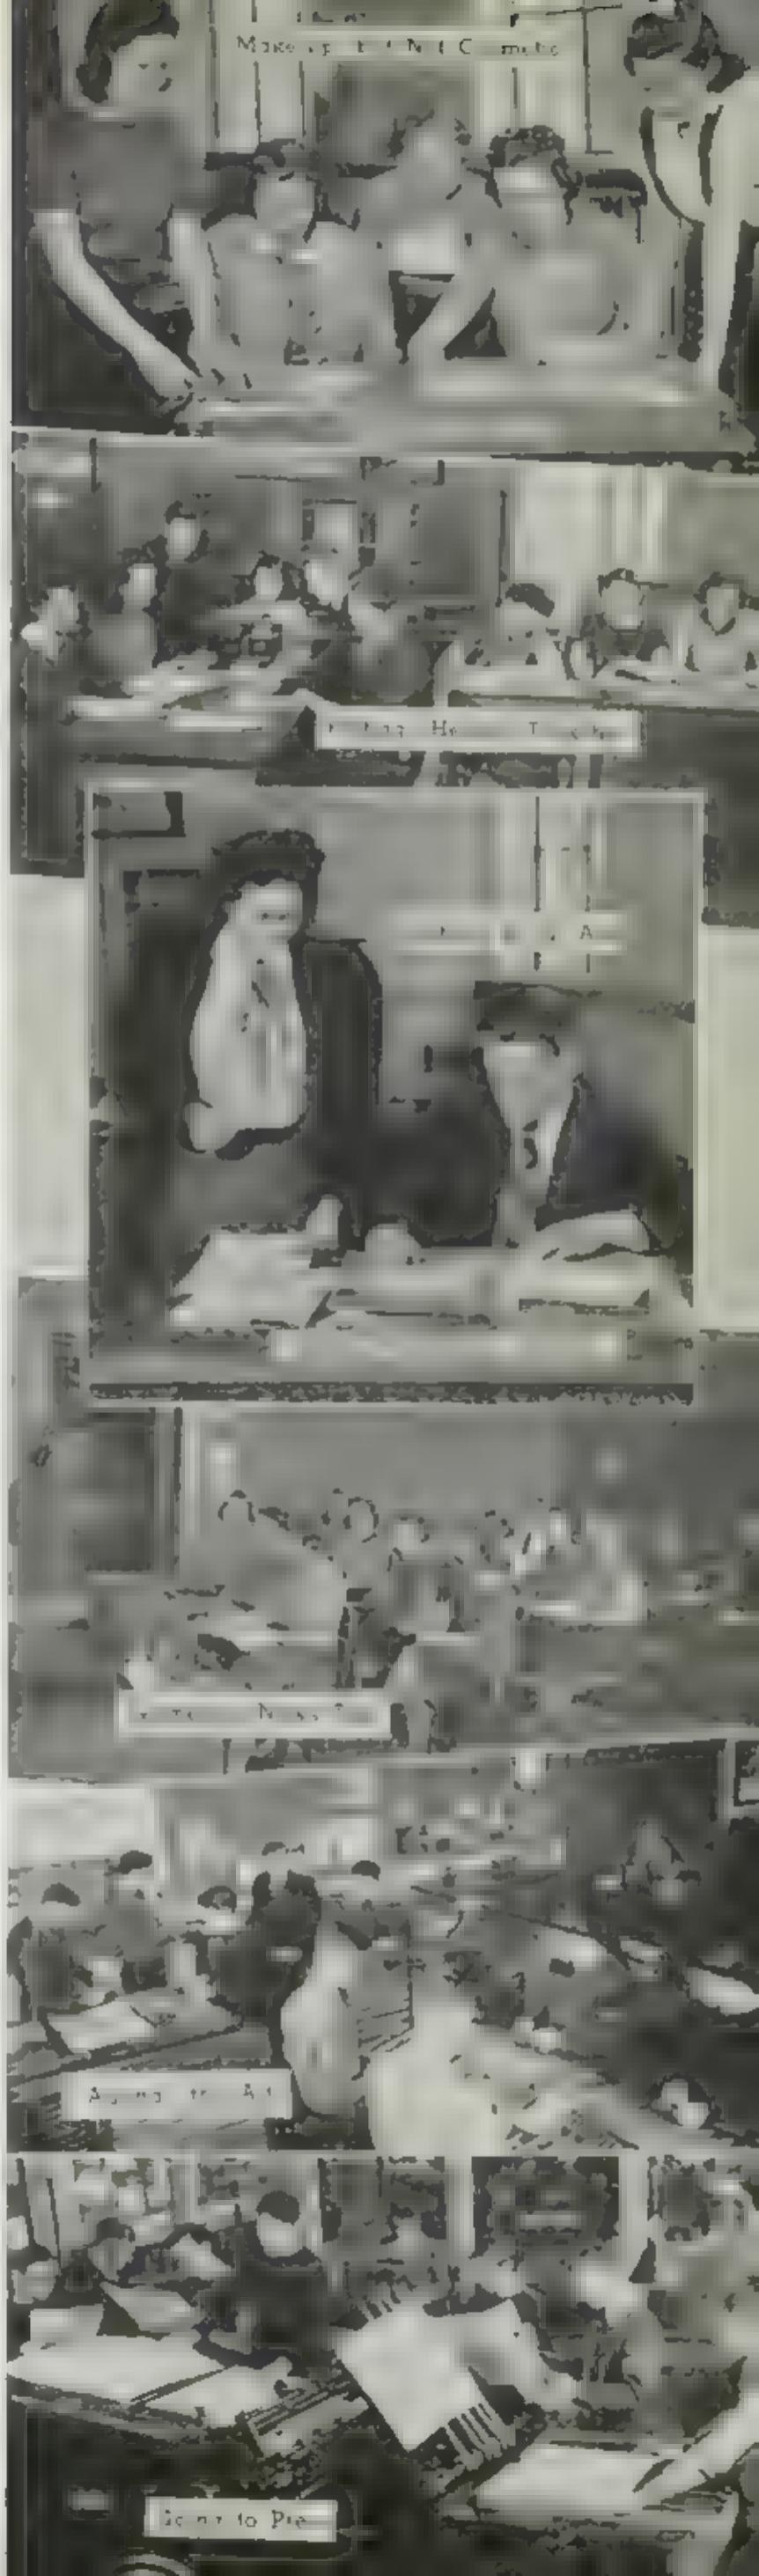

The Reflector, Union's own paper, tries to do, as its name implies — reflect and comment on the events and achievements of school students. This is to be carried out — not out of the window and into the waste basket but into the hands and minds of student readers — with a staff chosen for skill in news gathering and news writing.

Balanced coverage of a school activity, an constructive editorial comment on current events, there were two features which the national editors found as superior in giving The Reflector a rating of excellent. Thus they indicated that Union's school paper effectively serving its purpose in a modern democratic

The first semester staff consisted of Madelene Castor, Sylvia Castor, Peggy Nelson, Gertrude Fox, Irene Goolan, Birnard Chase, Louise Stein, Helen Laine, Frances Chase, Sonia Weiner, Shirley Cullen, June West, and Jack Winters.

The staff for the second semester included Irene West, Lorna Gossman, Marguerite Ferrell, Barbara Kowalkowsk, Della Schmidat, Muriel Elmer, Estelle McKellar, Gertrude DeY, and Dorothy Gossman, DeHaas, Bill Snead, and Dorothy Muriel. June Cattell, and Gertrude Auer.

Time marches on in the life of a school newspaper! First we listen in as elusive news tips are rounded up by an alert staff. Then make-up artists go into a huddle to plan the dummy (an outline of the paper to you non-journalists). Next we peep through the staff-room door to find editing, typing, and headline writing in process. Meanwhile, the entire staff has been scouring the neighborhood for ads, the backbone of the paper. These are set up in type down in the printing room; and the fruit of all these labours, another Reflector, rolls off the press.

Everybody's Tool

Never are truly than in these days of radio and television has language been man's most important tool. Through language man transmits ideas to others, through it he gets the ideas of others.

Although Latin, as Latin, is not spoken today, it is the basis for other languages, which are becoming more important as the United States becomes more deeply involved in the affairs of the world. The increasingly friendly relationship between the United States and South American countries has heightened the interest in Spanish. The world situation makes important French and English, which have become well nigh universal languages in western Europe.

Foreign languages have a commercial value to the students; however, the ability to speak with ease in one's native tongue is an asset which has both commercial and social value.

Students of Union who specialize in languages, dream of winning the Marion Jennings award symbol of excellence in the language department. Winners this year are Zabelle Goolian and Anne Larrabee, the latter of whom is finishing her course in three years.

good citizens of America.

A Universal Language

Art is the teacher of a universal language, which has no bounds of time or place. She teaches us to be tolerant and avoid prejudice, for a study of the arts of other countries helps us to understand their peoples, to appreciate their points of view. Because we carefully study new art ideas, we learn to analyze broadmindedly all new ideas and movements.

The study of art and art movements interprets for us not only the history but also the way of thinking and the emotional expression of each country and era. The grace and perfection of Greek architecture grew out of an age of intellectuality and refinement; free verse and dadaism were expressions of the chaos which followed the World War. Since we are so fortunate as to live in the land of the free, we have an especial opportunity to absorb international culture. This amalgamation of the art of the past and of our ancestral countries with the art of here and now will inevitably produce a new art, an American art.

Working on large projects, such as group murals, gives us experience in cooperating and in reasoning out our difficulties. No matter what our ages may be, expressing ourselves through art gives us relief from nervous tension and an opportunity for social adjustment. Union's art department has contributed to a variety of Grand Rapids' products. Former students are designing automobile bodies, clothing, lighting fixtures; doing illustration, posters, window decoration - two former Union boys are engravers of the fine designs to be found on the York band instruments.

Exploring the world of art opens up for us a new world of the beauty in everyday things. We are stirred by the impulse to create beautiful things. Best of all, studying art is a joyous and absorbing form of recreation for leisure time.

"Music Like a Curve of Gold"

American musical groups, both vocal and instrumental, have the opportunity to utilize the musical skill characteristic of many here in countries: for instance, our orchestra draws upon brasses from Germany, strings from Italy, Austria, Hungary, Poland and Russia, wood winds from France and Italy as well as the choicest musicians of America. Because different nationalities possess different voice ranges, Union is fortunate in having such a variety of nationalities.

Recently a group of eight students studied madrigals, a type of singing used in Europe in the sixteenth century, and first introduced to the student body at the N.H.S. assembly. The solo class has turned out singers who have contributed entertainment at functions both in and out of school. Did you think that glee clubs do nothing but sing? You are wrong, for they do all manner of strange things such as carrying books on their heads to improve poise.

At the senior play and other affairs about school the senior orchestra adds to the gay atmosphere and makes a basketball game which is not so much fun without the senior band. Something new under Union's sun is a girls' band which came into the spotlight when the Girls' Council decided again to play Santa with band instruments.

To the average American a radio is merely a piece of furniture, whereas in most other countries it is a luxury unknown to the average citizen. Most people agree that the radio has increased the appreciation of music in America. One group of girls proved themselves real music lovers by selling individual cakes after school, in order to raise funds for symphony orchestra tickets.

In American schools each year thousands of boys and girls talented in music have an opportunity, which we believe is offered in no other public schools in the world — that of free music training. It is this very advantage that makes possible the numerous musical groups that add so much to life at Union.

Spotlights

by the French, Spanish, and German students represent the more enthusiastic than the other Latin, and Spanish clubs. Annually these groups not only participate in all school activities but also plan and present original programs for their own meetings and social entertainments.

Both the French and Latin clubs this year have given short plays acted by the members while the Spanish Club entertained themselves with a Spanish dance. It is also a custom of each of these clubs to give a Christmas party after the manner of the country whose language they are studying.

All three are to participate in the Round up, and their booths were great favorites with attending visitors. A new project this year was a foreign language assembly in which each club took part.

The Camera Club, a newly organized group at Union, faces a bright future as photography has the double attraction of serving both students and adults as both a vocation and avocation. The club already has a large membership. Its adviser, Mr. Kemp, is a former Union student.

On Socialites

Like most clubs the Varsity, G.U.C., Home Economics, and Brain Trustees have two major interests: specialization in some field of activity and the promotion of student social life.

The Varsity and G.U.C. were founded to promote athletics. The G.U.C. sponsors several successful parties during the year and occasionally : as some interesting speaker such as Betsey Wheeler of The Herald, who each spring talks to the girls about fashions. The Varsity has a social meeting every month. Refreshments are served and an atmosphere of good fellowship prevails

Convinced that one of the functions of education in a democracy is to help people form opinions of their own, the Brain Trustees hold debates so that members and fellow students may hear both sides of controversial questions

The Home Economics Club, believing that a knowledge and appreciation of the customs and manners of other lands will enrich the home life of American citizens, studies hand-crafts, culture, manners, and at Christmas borrows the customs and traditions of foreign countries. The club was organized to promote greater interest in the skills needed to make a happy home.

The Pursuit of Happiness

Pursuit is really unnecessary at Union because happiness is brought to the students in many ways, of which one of the favorites is social affairs

Among the major events was the Homecoming Dance, held on October 15. Students and alumni united in celebrating the afternoon's victory on the football field. The G.U.C. and the U.H.S. girls entertained themselves with a Christmas tea, and on St. Patrick's Day a home economics class entertained with a tea for teachers

The Military Ball on April 14 was a gala affair at which officers joined with cadets in having a grand time. Phillip Barry's "The Youngest" was chosen by the class of '39 for their farewell dramatic venture on April 20 and 21. The juniors gave the seniors a real send-off with the prom on May 26

This swift glance will, we hope, suggest to the reader that the social experiences of Union students are many and varied

"Yea Red, Yea White"

Since the American school attempts to give to students the foundations for a well-rounded life, rare indeed is the school that does not provide a program of sports and athletic contests. Taking part in sports is as necessary to our physical well-being as a hobby, for instance, is to our mental happiness.

Games, such as tennis, wrestling, and golf, which require individual skill, bring a justifiable pride to the practised participant just as achievement in any field brings satisfaction to the performer. Football, baseball, and basketball are games in which team play is imperative. Onlookers as well as players experience a feeling of pride to know that a heterogeneous group is able to function together as a well-developed unit. The band, which likewise displays team work, has the ability to uplift our fading spirits when our athletic teams are on the short end of the score.

Pep meetings would be pretty dull if we had no cheer leaders with their "Yea, Red! Yea, White!" and other yells. At the games, Jack MacFarland, Rex Baird, Renny Eiko, and David Piso have labored as untiringly as stevedores to fire our spirits. And when the band starts the loyalty song, we thrill to see our six song leaders, Peggy Meyer, Jacqueline Coates, Sylvia Castor, Maria Schramm, Martha Winski, and Louise Lanski, dressed in their red and white sweaters and skirts, come forth to lead the time-worn favorite of our Alma Mater:

The Little Red Jug Comes Home

"Don't miss the kick-off!" must have echoed through many homes September 23, for one of the largest crowds of the season was on hand at Houseman Field to watch Union and Traverse City fight a grueling battle under the lights. This first game proved an amazingly accurate indicator of the team's performance during the greater part of the season, for the Red Hawks threatened time after time, but when the final gun sounded, the scoreboard showed that the little spark needed for victory was missing.

After this 7-6 defeat at the hands of the rangy Trojans, Union took Berkley, a class B school, in stride with a 14-7 victory. Following the victory over Berkley, the Red Birds once more lapsed into their scoreless ways, losing hard-fought contests of 7-0 and 6-0 to Creston and Ottawa respectively; however that all-important thing called the team's morale was bolstered by a 14-0 victory over Central's Hilltoppers the following week on Homecoming Day; and the Hawks went into the Muskegon game determined to show the Big Reds their talons. The Muskegon game ended with Union at the short end of a 26-6 score and minus the services of Joe Cimoch, strong defensive back

Then as the season drew to a close, Union was held to scoreless deadlocks by Tech's Wildcats and Catholic Central's Cougars

Throughout the season Union had showed a strong defensive team, but little punch on offense. As the time for the Thanksgiving day tussle with South approached, the consensus of opinion was that the fast, powerful Trojans would roll on unhindered to retain the "Little Red Jug" and cop another city championship

Union received the kick-off and shortly afterward a fumble recovered by the alert Trojans gave South their first scoring opportunity, on which they cashed in, making the score 7-0 in South's favor. From that moment to the end of the game, there could be but one word to describe the Hawks and that is "firy," for the dash which had been lacking most of the season was supplied by "Turk" Prominski's sharp line thrusts; and, when the teams trotted off the field for the last time, the score read Union 13—South 7. (It is suspected by some that the turkey dinner promised to the team by an Ottawa fan, should Union defeat South to give Ottawa the football crown, supplied a motive for the Hawk's killing of the Trojans)

SECOND TEAM

Jaeger, Pottersch, C. Roseman, DeVries
Kloet, Liskey, Geilhan, N. Medukas, Schulz, Olson, Wright.

With five lettermen, including Wierzbicki, Kloet, Post, Ellingson, Cimoch, and a wealth of reserve material, Coach "Doc" Ellingson again molded a championship-contending team.

The record of thirty-one consecutive city wins was successfully defended against Creston and Central, but Friday, January 13, was truly an unlucky day for Union when Christian's high-flying Eagles snapped the winning streak at thirty-three straight by a score of 27-18. To make matters worse, Union was defeated by Ottawa to plummet the Red Hawks down to the lowest place in standings that they had experienced in many years.

After electing Wierzbicki and Kloet co-captains and finding replacements for Post and Ellingson at the half-way mark, the team — determined to do or die — defeated in suction Catholic, Creston, Central, South and, after a grueling battle, gained revenge over Christian by defeating the state class B champs, 26-25. This victory again put Union in the thick of the struggle for the city crown. Ottawa, who had had the Indian sign on the Red Hawks all season, defeated them again to practically wipe out their chance of being the first team to win the championship four years in succession. However the Red Birds clinched second place by defeating Catholic in the last game of the season.

Entering the regionals a favorite, Union defeated Creston, and again was edged out by Ottawa in the finals.

Kloet and Linacre, lanky center and flashing red headed guard, landed berths on the 1939 All-City Team.

Spring

GOLF

The most unique of all Union teams is the golf squad because it has not as yet lost a match to the Ottawa Indians. Players are Decker, Czurak, Kopec, Zylstra, Carsok, and Eggebeen. Thus far the Hawks have defeated East Grand Rapids 4-1, Davis Tech 4-0, Christian 4-0, Central 4-1, tied Catholic 2-2, and have been defeated by Creston's troublesome Polar Bears 2-1.

TENNIS

The twang of the ball against the racquet has lured Anderson, Bergsma, Cress, Goolan, Kortz, Ortowski, Postema, Sosnowski, Sypniewski, Van Ess, Vogel, and Host into joining the tennis team which has won two matches and lost one to date. The boys have excellent possibilities and are shooting high.

WRESTLING

This year's Red Hawk grunt and groan squad wound up second in city competition placing Olynicyak, Geib, Kowrack, DeGraw, Skippy, Toms, Simoncini, Parker, Jadvinskas, Kline, and Sciamanna in the city meet. Captain Geib, DeGraw, Skippy, Toms, Molodyniski, and Nowicki carried on and placed in the state meet. Niewiadomski, Wronko, Folkertsma, Bright, Kroon, Flickenger, Bair, and Lumas were among those who composed the rest of the squad.

TRACK

After electing Allan Waivio and Leon Orlowski co-captains, the track team settled down to some stiff practice for the coming duels. The squad included Apkarian, Baird, Bier, Bright, Broekema, Centilli, Cooper, Crandle, Czuhai, Downer, Dykema, Gray, Gumowski, Heible, Hoogewind, Weber, Heys, Hinman, Igleski, Jaworowicz, Jones, Kuitert, Laszewski, Loucks, Lumas, Medukas, Maretzky, Mioduch-ski, Nelson, Nowacki, Nowicki, Olesykiewicz, Jaeger, Jadvinskas, Orlkowski, Oumedian, Polmanteer, Schmalz, Shippy, Sikanas, Simoncini, Van Dyk, A. Waivio, E. Waivio, Weronko, Roseman, DeGraw, Francis, Zimmerman, Kowrak.

The Hawk squad got off to a flying start against Central, winning 62 to 45, then, just as every '39 Union team has done when meeting the Ottawa Indians, it went down to defeat, 53 to 69, but bounced back to take a triangle meet in which Union rolled up 64 points, Hastings 35, and Belding 12. The following week the Hawks came through with their highest tally of the season to date, a victory over Tech of $80\frac{1}{2}$ to $40\frac{1}{2}$.

BASEBALL

With Bill Sneathen, four-year, first-string catcher at the helm, Union's baseball hawks took the field against a tough Creston nine and were stopped cold by a no-hit one-run performance turned in by the Bear hurler. The following week Ottawa got out the old jinx sign and dusted it off to give the Hawks a 3-2 defeat. Union practically "booted" the game away by making costly errors in crucial parts of the game. Ted Coffee, sensational Catholic pitcher, pitched masterful one-hit ball to blank the Hawks 2-0 in the team's third straight loss. However, in two outside games Union defeated a strong Kalamazoo nine 7-5, and an equally strong Wyoming Park outfit 4-1.

The squad this year was composed largely of seniors, although two freshmen, Kiehle and Dickey, broke into the line-up. Others on the team were C. Anderson, A. Anderson, Cummings, Dickey, Golden, Hausser, Hanson, Hastriter, Jackin, Keenan, Lack, Lyons, Lambert, Linacre, Phillips, Ruff, Steketee, Sciamanna, Sneathen, Smith, Tummer, Tolodziecki, Vande Vrede, Wierzbicki, Wisse, Toms, and Molodyniski.

The Girls in Blue

Badminton, a game long popular in India and England, has recently taken girls' gym classes by storm. It is played similarly to tennis, the difference being the shuttlecock is hit back and forth into the net.

Stunts play an important part in rounding out the girls' sport activities. Pyramid building tends to create stronger bodies. Pictured on this page are several types of stunts, including straight stands, hand stands, and balancing acts put together to make an attractive program.

A actress is the prime requisite for the volleyball player. It doesn't do the team any good for a player to get there after the ball has. Besides providing a mental stimulus, the game also offers a physical release from nervous tension stored up during the day; the calling out of every muscle also serves as a reviver.

With girls' rules, basketball becomes slower, but it is still an enjoyable, and very often an exciting game. Several sharpshooters, who have real ability to hit the mark, are uncovered every year by Miss MacDonald.

"Git Along, Little Dogies"

The Union High Community Council, composed of west side business men, faculty members, and student representatives, endeavored to develop a closer relation between the school and the community.

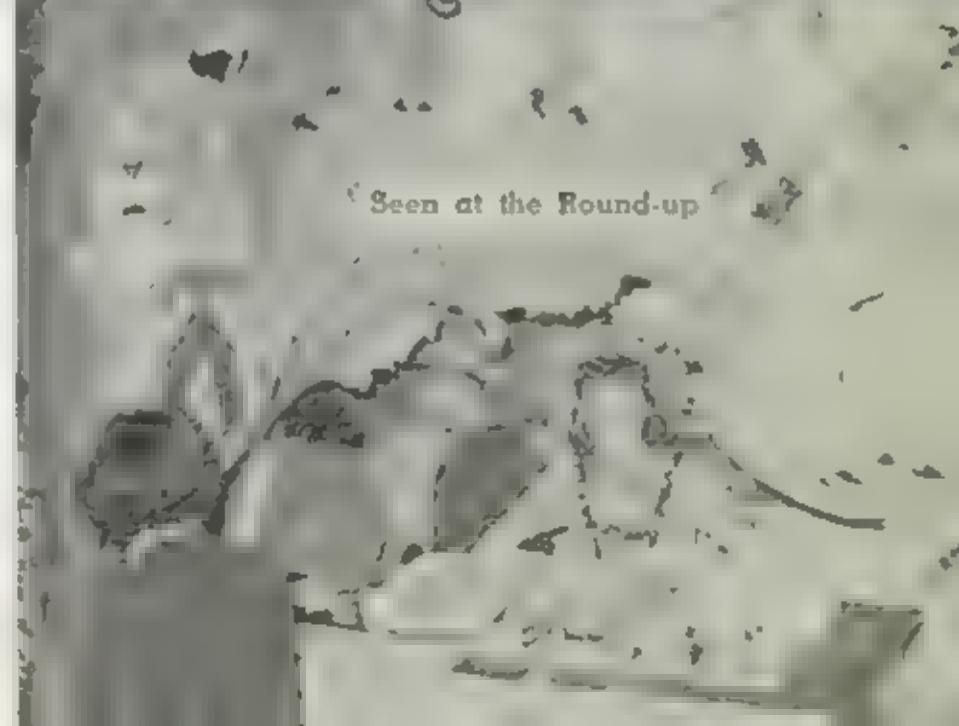

The Council, aided by the Parent Teacher Association, has for four years sponsored an annual Round-up, proceeds from which are used to buy such necessary extra school uniforms.

For many weeks Union was held in a wild west atmosphere; and territorial cowboys, and top hands roamed the city on ticket-selling expeditions. Hats, chaps, riding breeches, boots, and guns were the order of the day.

A feature of the pre-Round-up activities was a parade in which horseback riders, team board drivers, and cowboys in civilian dress marched up Monroe Avenue in the Mardi Gras mood which later prevailed at the Round itself on the evenings of March 20 and 21.

Special attractions at the Round-up were roller skating, a minstrel show, sawing, and a shooting gallery. One of the most interesting booths was sponsored by the Art Club which sold clever hand-made souvenirs.

Truly the Union School Community Council sets a fine example to Union parents in what citizens may do in the way of community service.

Unsung

Students at Union cooperate willingly to serve the school in every way they can. Those who work in such organizations as the Press Club, Athletic Council, Service Squad, and Student Council frequently do not receive so much glory as those on athletic teams or the newspaper staff, although their service is often-times just as valuable

Most American schools in true democratic spirit have a student governing body. At Union each boy and girl votes to elect a representative from his home room

Keeping the halls in order, collecting leave permits, and assisting strangers are the duties of the Service Squad. Students who undertake this work give up at least one study period a day

Seniors on the Aurora sale staff not only promoted sales in their own home rooms but helped underclassmen in the most successful campaign ever held for the Aurora

Advertising for all sport events is handled by the Athletic Council which has sponsored many pep meetings. Money earned by the council in sales of pins and pennants has been used to buy athletic equipment

On the mornings the Reflector comes out, members of the Press Club distribute the papers to the subscribers in their room

Heroes

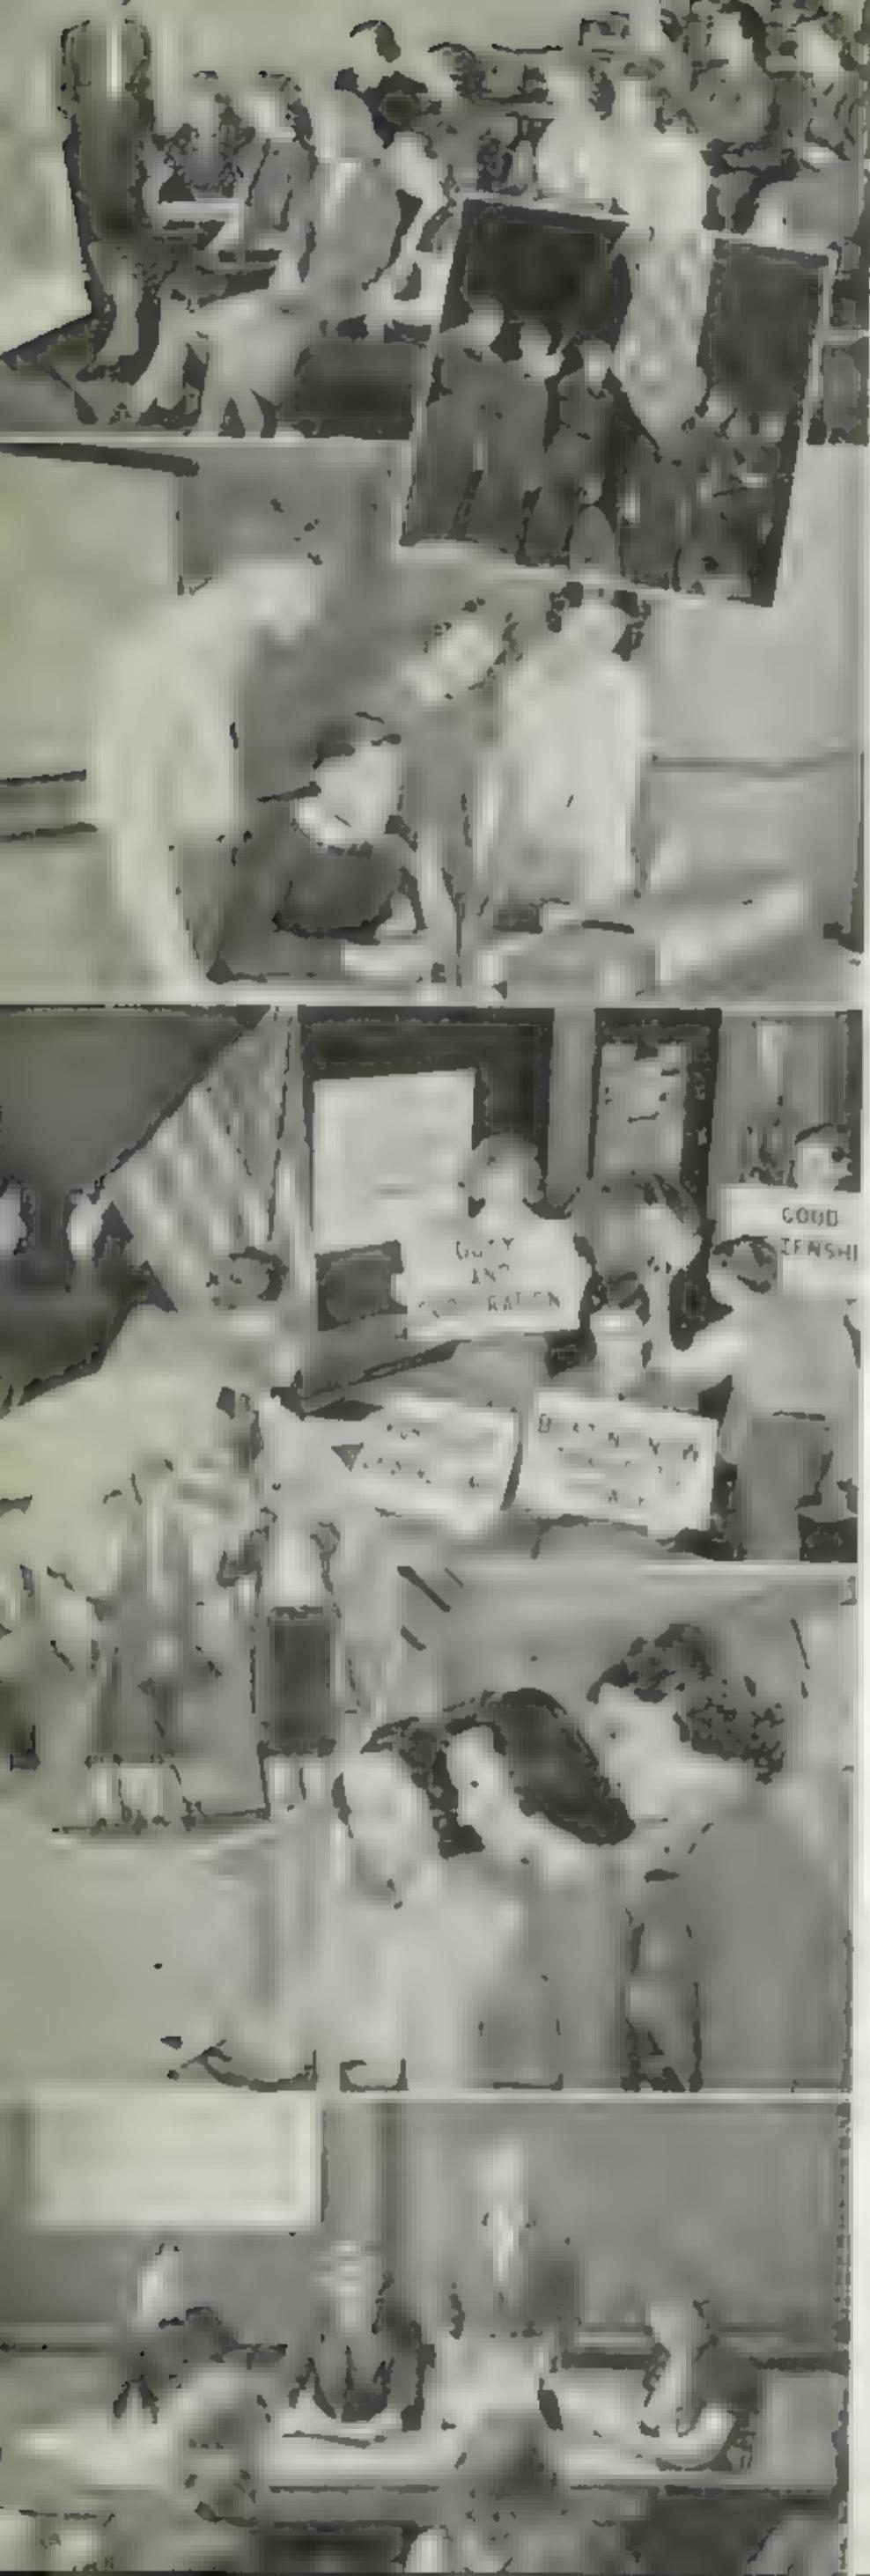

The Dillingham Memorial Cup and the gold key awards are two of the most prized honors which are offered annually to Seniors. Scholarship, character, and service are the qualities considered by the faculty members who choose the winners by a vote. This year's winners of the Dillingham cups are Loma Goosmann and Howard Van Oosten.

Members of the National Honor Society, who are chosen for outstanding records in scholarship, leadership, service, and character, have contributed their services to the school by counselling the seventh graders and by coaching students who need help in their school work; they have served the community by ushering at Wallin Congregational Church. Pictured at the right are members Margaret Hart, Bobs Johnston, Dorothy Berry, Earl Millet, Maurine Chapel, Geraldine Devlin, Mary Ann Mentzer, Bernard Flickinger, Arline Stehouwer, Mildred Orwant, Geraldine Fik, and Charles Witkoski.

In a class of parliamentary procedure, organized this semester and directed by Principal Everest, the students who serve as officers of the various clubs and organizations now have an opportunity to learn the proper method of conducting meetings.

Gold keys are awarded on the basis of activity points earned by each student during his high school career. The 1939 winners of these awards for citizenship, literary work, music, art, clubs, and organizations, physical education, and special honors are Zabeile Goolian, Sylvia Castor, Lenore Ampulski, Frances Cutler, Loma Goosmann, and Peggy Meyer.

At Home

Just as the old Deacon's one-hoss shay was as strong as its weakest part, so is a nation as strong, sane, and intelligent as its weakest citizen. Citizenship and safety clubs and patriotic assemblies are fostered at Union for this reason: that we may make ourselves and our neighbors conscious of our potential strength as citizens living in a nation which stands for liberty and freedom for all.

Today our nation has become highly complex, intra-dependent, and industrialized. New and heavier responsibilities are placed upon every one of its citizens. In the school we are first made aware of and taught how to accept these responsibilities.

From the youngest eighth grader studying civics to the oldest senior studying American government or American history students at Union High School learn to take their parts as citizens in the American way of life.

And Abroad

When rumblings of war from "over there" reach the United States, no longer do we dare to shrug them away in a feeling of security because of our geographical position. The nations of the world are tied together in a network of communication, commerce, and fast travel from which there is no escape.

A study of European and world history and of modern problems has shown us, in as remote a place as Union High School, what the problems of other nations are, and how closely allied in history, descent, and interests are all peoples. The members of the Junior Foreign Cross Club promote the spirit of internationalism by making scrap books showing American life and sending them to other countries. The nations have to be alive to each other as "neighbors."

No matter how unreasonable the actions of foreign nations may seem to Americans, we are taught to try to understand their motives, and to realize that we have the advantage of being free to speak our minds, to write our thoughts, to discriminate between propaganda and fact, while students of other nations may not.

The World Around Us

One touch of nature makes the whole world kin.
— Shakespeare

To make Union High students well-rounded citizens of the wide, wide world, several groups and their teacher advisers work enthusiastically.

The Audubon, Nature, and Humane clubs make an attempt to put boys and girls on speaking terms with their living world, and at the same time to make Unionites closer friends to man and God.

The Girl Reserves and Hi-Y clubs — units of those greater organizations, the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A., that know no boundaries of race or creed — have for their purpose the improvement of the individual himself and the enlargement of his social outlook. Of the more than twenty different religions which Union students represent, nearly all have disciples in one of these two clubs. Acting in line with their program of social consciousness, the Girl Reserves at Thanksgiving time collected magazines and baskets of food to give to needy families. Hi-Y members have given entertainments at the Juvenile Home.

The work of these clubs is an example of what Union teachers and students do to make the cosmopolitan group that enrolls each year into men and women of true Christian ideals and standards of Americanism.
